Ten Tips to Improve MRP Performance

SCOTT DULECKI - Sungate Solutions

MRP drives the manufacturing process, but is that a Sunday drive through the countryside or a stop-and-go horn-blaring rush hour? There are a number of choices that you make when running MRP that determine whether you'll be smiling or swearing as MRP runs. In this session, Scott will cover what you can do to reduce the stress and challenge of running MRP.

In-House or Outsource Support For Your QAD System

JOHN GRAHAM - Strategic Information Group

Similar to the make vs. buy decision operations managers make for manufacturing, IT and finance professionals have options to consider for supporting their QAD system. More companies are deciding to focus on their core competencies and outsource their QAD support. Learn how companies outsource their QAD database, application, EDI, development, infrastructure and end user support needs for lower costs and convenience.

PROGRAM AGENDA

3:30pm	Break / Visit The Exhibits - Poinsett Ballroom
	TECHNICAL TRACK Marion	SPONSOR TRACK Furman
4:00pm	Software Configuration Management Primer MICHAEL SOLOMON JACLYN BARNARD Roundtable Software There are a lot of ways to manage all of development work your team does, but are you set up to win? Or just to get by? In this session, we'll walk you through a software configuration management (SCM) litmus test to see how well your team manages today's problems so they don't show up and cost you again tomorrow. You'll know how to measure how just "getting by" costs you and how you can get ahead with the right practices and tools.	Cyberquery for Reporting / BI and Dashboards BRENT BECKER - Cyberscience This session will focus on two aspects: Consolidated and Federated reporting across multiple applications, databases and platforms. Reporting and analytics from all data in an enterprise both easily and efficiently is much in demand. Learn about Data Visualization through Dashboards and see what other QAD sites are doing.
